The haulage company located in the north of Italy has been operating for over 30 years. Logistics control is exercised centrally from the company's main offices in Montebelluna, where a new headquarters has now been erected. Here, 35 branches and other locations on 5 continents are controlled. The company's new building with 150 workstations is intended to express the company's internationality, innovative strength and orientation to the future. After three years of planning and construction, the company was able to move into the building, which also accommodates storage areas and car parking spaces.
