The courage to use colour! Red and violet silent rush office swivel chairs as well as carpets match, almost unnoticed, the choice of colours used in Hellmann adverts. In combination with shades of brown and dark wooden surfaces, this results in an intentionally warm and homely atmosphere. Each workstation is equipped with a network connection so that the employees can log in wherever they are.

According to the latest findings, informal meetings are essential for better and more efficient interdisciplinary collaboration. Ideally, places that support this function are intentionally planned as attractors. In Hellmann's headquarters, everything was thought of: even the fire in the fireplace can "weld" colleagues together.
